

Rwanda is a tiny landlocked republic situated in Central Africa, bordered to the North by Uganda, to the East by Tanzania, to the South by Burundi and to the West by the Democratic Republic of Congo. A mountainous country with a moist, temperate year-round climate, Rwanda lies on the eastern rim of the Albertine Rift and the watershed between Africa's two largest river systems: the Nile and the Congo.

RWANDA

Useful Information

The citizens of Rwanda participate in “Umuganda” (meaning community service), a mandatory event from 8:00am to 11:00am, on the last Saturday of each month. Rwandans come together to do a variety of community activities that promote infrastructure development and environmental protection.

CLIMATE

Rwanda’s climate does not change much as it is located near the equator, making it a year-round country to visit. Most parts of the country receive in excess of 39 inches of precipitation annually, with the driest months being July to September and the wettest February to May. Gorilla tracking can be muddier, but it can certainly be done. In the mountainous areas it is much colder than on the plains and the rainfall is greater. The temperatures on the plains tend to be between 74°F and 92°F and in the mountainous areas they can go down to 52°F June to September.

CURRENCY & CREDIT CARDS

The currency unit is the Rwandan Franc (Rwf) denoted by the symbol RFr and RFr1. It is strongly suggested that you bring cash (issued in 2000 or later and in excellent condition – no tears or stains) for your visit. The US dollar is the hard currency of preference. Rates of exchange should be checked with your hotel or bank. When changing money, it is best to request small bills. It is also suggested to carry Rwandan Franc’s for tipping and small incidentals. It is difficult for the Rwandan people to exchange foreign currency. Credit cards are usually accepted but visitors must ensure that they have sufficient cash for any expenditure. There is often a surcharge for using a credit card. Check with your bank for any fees you may be charged.

SHOPPING HOURS

Shopping hours are generally Monday – Saturday from 8:00am to 6:00pm. Many shops close early on Saturdays.

LANGUAGE

The official languages are Kinyarwanda and French. In hotels and lodges English is spoken. Gorilla Tracking “Lead Guides” speak very good English. However, the rangers and porters might not speak English very well. Very little English is spoken by an average Rwandan person.

VOLTAGE

Electric current is 230V A.C. at 50 cycles per second with 2-pin (round) sockets. Some camps do not have power but arrangements for recharging batteries can usually be made.

ELECTRICAL PLUGS

230V 50Hz

PHOTOGRAPHY

Bring extra memory cards and fully charged spare batteries—especially for gorilla trekking, where long treks can drain power. Personal video recorders are permitted, but flash photography and video lights are strictly prohibited.

Always ask permission before photographing local people, and never take photos without consent. Your guide can help if needed. Photography of border posts, uniformed personnel, and military installations is illegal.
